CNET Launches New GMT Sexual Responsibility Education Materials!

The Chief of Naval Education and Training (CNET) has developed a new educational package for completion of mandatory General Military Training (GMT) on Sexual Responsibility. This GMT meets the requirement of SECNAVNOTICE 5300 for HIV prevention education.

The new materials include an Instruction Guide, a PowerPoint briefing slide set, and a 13-minute videotape. These products can be viewed or downloaded from the CNET internet address at <http://www.cnet.navy.mil/cnet/gmt/gmtindex.html>.

Distribution of these materials to commands is made by CNET (those on their mailing list). CNET anticipates sending a compact disk containing the Sexual Responsibility materials (including an mpeg file of the video) in Jan 2000. SHARP also intends to include these files on the SHARP 2000 Toolbox compact disk, which will be sent by NEHC SHARP to all Area Coordinators in January 2000.

How to Use the General Military Training Materials:

Associated with each GMT Lesson is an instructor guide and PowerPoint graphics. The instructor guide (IG) provides the minimum information that should be covered when delivering the GMT lesson. The left column of the guide provides the major teaching points and the right side provides some questions the instructor may ask in order to facilitate a group discussion. The instructor may tailor the presentation to the needs of the audience.

The instructor must review the IG before presenting the lesson and should be familiar with the references cited in the instructions in order to be able to clarify potential issues and questions that may be raised during the presentation.
